

ECON 1000 : Elements of Economics

Structure and functioning of the U.S. economy. National economic goals, the market system, price determination, taxation and government spending, business cycles, fiscal and monetary policy, international trade. Production theory, competition and business profit maximization. Understanding of current economic events and issues.

Credits 3.0

Semester Offered

fall/spring